

Floods, Storms Cause 16 Deaths; Many Homeless

High Waters in South Drive Thousands From Homes; Property Damage Is Heavy in Middle West, East as Result of Snow and Ice

(By The Associated Press)
Floods and storms dealt destructive blows across wide areas of the South, Midwest and East today.
The mid-February snow and ice storms were blamed for at least 15 deaths. Property damage mounted into millions of dollars.
Thousands were made homeless as rising rivers spilled into lowland homes in Louisiana and Missouri. Other thousands were threatened with evacuation in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Tennessee as new floods menaced the area which fought floodwaters only a few weeks ago. Many rivers, fed with heavy rainfall for the last several days, surged to flood stage, some inching toward the high marks in last month's damaging overflows.
The U. S. Weather Bureau said the sleet and snowstorm which swept across the Middle West and Eastern states was diminishing. It left a blanket of snow throughout the Northern states and an abundant rainfall from the Gulf to the North Atlantic States.
It also left a heavy toll in property damage and ice-coated highways. Many communities remained isolated from outside telephone communication. Trees, telephone and power lines snapped under the weight of the heavy snow and sleet. The snow carpet over some Midwest areas measured more than 20 inches.
Highway travel was sharply curtailed and some air flights were canceled. Icy and slushy sidewalks made walking hazardous. Hundreds suffered minor injuries in falls.
Today, light snow fell in the upper and middle Mississippi valley, Michigan and over New England. Rain fell along the Atlantic coast from South Carolina northward.
There were no severe cold spots. The snow and ice storm which whipped across the Midwest into Pennsylvania, New York and southern New England was the worst in several years in many sections. The storm in southern New England piled snow as high as 10 inches. The snow turned to sleet last night and rain was forecast today. The heaviest falls were in western Massachusetts.
11 Persons Are Dead
New York counted 11 persons dead in accidents attributed to the storm. Four deaths were reported in Pennsylvania and one in Illinois.
More than a foot of snow fell in upstate New York. Wet sleet turned to slush in New York city last night and rain was forecast during the day. The storm was credited with making the highest contribution yet to the dwindling water supplies in reservoirs.
East central Louisiana, with thousands fleeing their lowland homes, feared what may be the worst flood threat since 1927. More than 1,500 families were evacuated by floodwaters of secondary rivers.
The floods, caused by seepage and backing up, engulfed more than 650,000 acres of lowlands over a rough triangle from Natchez, Miss., to Alexandria, La., to a point near Baton Rouge. The lands are mostly those which are expected to go under water at high river stages.
The levee system was intact and above water on the Mississippi at Baton Rouge. But army engineers said the big stream is bank full from Cairo, Ill., to the Gulf and more rains will produce a flood.

Storm Brings City Slightly Less Than Foot of Wet Snow

Total Thus Far in Winter Is About 31 Inches; Trucks Stall on Hills

Eleven and a quarter inches of snow pelted Kingston between 1 p. m. on Monday and up to about 5 p. m. Tuesday, the city engineers office reported this morning.
The big fall, which made traveling hazardous late Monday and all day Tuesday, brought this year's snowfall up to 30 1/4 inches.
Although old man winter has made a belated appearance with two snowstorms during February, this year's amount is still far below the previous big storms of the winters of 1947-1948 and 1948-1949.
According to the engineer's office, Kingston had 45 1/2 inches of snow in winter, while a total of 75 inches fell on Kingston in 1947-1948.
The police reported no automobile accidents during last night's traffic.
Two city snow loaders went into action beginning at 11 p. m. Tuesday. One operated in the uptown section of the city starting at John street and Clinton avenue while the other, in the downtown area, began operations at McEntee street and Broadway.
The police received several calls Tuesday night reporting stalled trucks on Wurts street.
The first came in at 8:08 p. m. stating there were two trucks stalled abreast of each other. Officers Kenneth Stratton and Francis Fagan, assigned to the area, reported to headquarters that one truck, although equipped with chains, still could not make the hill. A wrecker was summoned to aid the vehicle.
At 8:25 p. m., the police said that there were four other trucks stalled on Wurts street hill.
Earlier in the day at 4:30 p. m., the police were notified that traffic was retarded considerably on East Chester street due to rough road conditions. Two police officers said that when cars stopped for the street light on Houshopper avenue traffic was practically unable to proceed.

Travel Is Reported Bad in Big Area

Rain and Sleet Make Roads Slippery; Improves South of County

Rain mixed with sleet throughout the night made highways in this area unusually bad this morning and from all sections of the county came reports of tie-ups on hills. State Troopers warned that traffic faced serious danger and advised that all except those who were compelled to travel remain off the highways until the snow had been removed.
In the city the Board of Public Works put snow removal equipment to work at 11 o'clock last night and the snow loaders, working in the business areas by morning had main arteries cleared. Other streets were rutted and going remained heavy.
County snow removal equipment was kept in operation throughout Tuesday and until noon mid-night when crews were called in for rest. During the night sanding crews remained on the job to sand bad spots but rain and sleet made sanding operations of little value.
At 7:30 o'clock this morning the snow plows again took to the highways and at the county garage on Gate street it was stated the plows would all work during the day to open highways.
Those men who came to work early this morning found travel difficult and delays were numerous where vehicles were stuck on hills.

Sino Reds, Russia Sign Agreement

Soviets Agree to Loan $300,000,000 in Five Years, Yield Various Rights by 1952 Loan Is 'Small'

Sum Is Only Fraction of What Is Needed for Rehabilitation

Moscow, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Soviet Union and China last night signed sweeping treaties which ally the world's two largest Communist countries in peace or possible war for the next 30 years.
The treaties, signed in the Kremlin after nearly two months of intensive negotiations, were said to be aimed at developing and strengthening the economic and cultural ties of the two nations, and preventing the rebirth of Japanese aggression.
Russia agreed to lend Communist China $300,000,000 over the next five years and give up rail, road and navigation rights in Manchuria by 1952.
(In Washington, diplomatic authorities speculated that the treaty may have secret clauses, since the published agreements were silent on reported Red Chinese desires for planes and ships to send against Nationalist-held Formosa. (First reaction in Japan was that the Russian loan was surprisingly small. The announced total of $300,000,000 is only a fraction of the amount China needs to buy machinery and goods to industrialize the sprawling, war-torn nation.)
Negotiations had been carried on by Prime Minister Joseph Stalin and Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vinshinsky for the Soviet Union, and Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tse-tung and Premier and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai for China. Vinshinsky and Chou signed the documents.
A treaty of friendship, alliance and mutual aid calls for the fullest assistance by either party if the other is attacked by Japan "or any other state which directly or indirectly would unite in any form with Japan in acts of aggression."
The treaties bring to an end the 1945 Russo-Chinese pact, signed as the result of the Yalta agreement, in which the Soviets were given a hand in control of the Manchurian naval base at Port Arthur, the port of Dairen and the Great Wall railway through southern Manchuria.
The new Manchurian agreements are to become effective immediately upon conclusion of a Japanese peace treaty or not later than 1952.
The signing of the agreements was celebrated at a reception at the Chinese embassy which was attended by Prime Minister Stalin.
It was the first time since the war that the Soviet premier had been a guest of a foreign embassy in Moscow. This was regarded as a sign of his high esteem for the Chinese Communist leaders.
After the signing, Chou said in a broadcast message: "The unity of the peoples of China and the Soviet Union, which number about 700,000,000, is a force which is impossible to defeat."
One part of the friendship treaty says the two nations agree to work for conclusion "in the shortest possible space of time" a peace treaty with Japan jointly with the other allies in World War II.

Orders Are That Survey Shall Follow

State Administrator Says Situation Is Getting Worse; Buffalo Has Closed Schools

Steel Plant Closes

Republic at Troy Shuts Down Blast Furnace, 220 Idle

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—State emergency machinery rolled today to measure New York's fast vanishing coal supplies, down to the "last ton."
A dealer-by-dealer survey was ordered preliminary to the probable drafting of rigid ration and allocation priority regulations by the state coal administrator, Bertram D. Tallamy.
Tallamy ordered the survey yesterday, shortly after the Legislature had voted Governor Dewey sweeping emergency powers to cope with the shortage caused by the strike of soft coal miners.
Tallamy said the soft coal problem was "critical and will get worse."
He described the hard coal situation as "deteriorating quite rapidly." He attributed this to the anthracite miners' three-day work week.
Meanwhile, the effects of the shortage were felt across the state. At Buffalo, public schools were ordered closed for a week to conserve coal.
At Troy, Republic Steel Corporation shut down its blast furnace and laid off 220 employees.
At New York city, there were no serious physical effects yet. But, Police Commissioner William J. O'Brien, chairman of Mayor Dewey's Emergency Fuel Committee, ordered police to survey supplies among dealers, city departments, utilities, hospitals and the Board of Transportation.
Dewey and Tallamy moved swiftly to put the emergency machinery into operation in face of continued refusal by an estimated 372,000 soft coal miners to return to the pits.
The governor, requesting and receiving emergency powers from the Legislature, said the state had only a 10-day supply of coal on hand. Supplies in some communities will last only three or four days, he added. New York would face "catastrophe" if the strike continued for more than a few days longer.
The 90-day emergency powers measure shot through the Legislature without dissent. It was rushed to New York city, where Dewey signed it last night.
The measure gives Dewey and Tallamy wide powers, enforceable by court injunction, in prosecution of violators on misdemeanor charges.
It authorizes Tallamy to regulate distribution of coal now in dealers' yards and to establish a system of priorities. It also empowers Tallamy to restrict use of electricity, manufactured gas and other coal products.
Tallamy conferred for an hour yesterday with representatives of the New York State Solid Fuel Merchants Association. He based his appraisal of the situation on information discussed at the meeting and guided missiles.
3. Strategic plans for opposing communism in Formosa, the Far East, Europe and elsewhere.
In a speech at Waco, Tex., Feb. 1, Symington said Russia now has the world's largest armies, air forces and submarine fleet and added:
"Behind the Iron Curtain is the air equipment capable of delivering a surprise atomic attack against any part of the United States. We have no sure defense against such an attack."
Just one day later Johnson in an informal speech said if Russia should stage a surprise attack at 4 a. m. this country could be defeated within an hour. He added that if Russia started a war the United States was ready "to lick hell" out of her.
In another speech yesterday Johnson said U. S. defenses "are in the opinion of the joint chiefs, the President and myself, sufficient to the needs of the hour."
Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee let the Senate delegation to today's Pentagon conference. With him were the 12 other members of his committee and 10 members of the Appropriations Committee.

Rail Unions Refuse Any Arbitration

Representatives of 200,000 Workers Serve Notice Upon Board

Cleveland, Feb. 15 (AP)—Two railroad unions today declined arbitration of their dispute with the nation's carriers.
The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors, representing approximately 200,000 workers, notified the National (Railway) Mediation Board they could not accept arbitration. This was announced at the trainmen's headquarters here.
A strike date is expected to be set Friday. This does not necessarily mean an immediate strike threat, however.
Francis A. O'Neill, chairman of the Mediation board, said yesterday that if the unions set a date, his board would notify President Truman an emergency exists. Under the Railway Labor Act, the President can appoint an emergency fact-finding board to investigate the dispute. The fact-finding board has 30 days in which to report to the President. For 30 days after this report is submitted, both sides are required by the law to retain the status quo.
The union's principal demand is for a 40-hour week for about 85,000 yard service employees, without any cut in pay from the present 48-hour week. The brotherhoods also have submitted other demands for rules changes.
The railroads have submitted their own list of demands for changes in operating rules, which they claim are obsolete.
Mediation in the dispute broke down yesterday in Chicago. O'Neill said peace efforts by the board were ended because "the mediation was getting nowhere."

Senators Ask Real Estimates Of Nation's Defense Strength

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Two groups of senators were angling today for some solid estimates of this nation's defense strength. They're puzzled, they said, over recent statements that appear to conflict.
Their attitude was summed up by Senator Gurney (R-S.D.) who told a reporter:
"I want to know if we are as strong as Secretary of Defense Johnson claimed or as weak as Secretary of the Airforce Symington said we are."
Gurney, a former chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee, and 22 other senators were invited to a top secret session in the Pentagon Building with military and civilian heads of the Armed Services today.
The hush-hush affair, called "a briefing" of the lawmakers, was expected to touch on such subjects as:
1. Latest progress in hydrogen and atomic bombs, how weapons of warfare and immediate needs and plans of the army, navy and air forces.
2. The relative strength of Soviet Russia and her progress in building submarines, air power

Plane Blows Up

Breckin, Eng., Feb. 15 (AP)—A secret experimental Flying-Wing jet fighter blew up in the air today, killing its pilot.
The plane, a Lockheed P-80, was in the air for about 10 minutes before it exploded. The cause of the explosion was not known.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—The position of The Treasury Feb. 13: Net budget receipts $95,218,556.85; budget expenditures $81,110,363.77; cash balance $5,127,891.47; net receipts for month $14,926,788.64; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $22,435,401,556.75; budget expenditures fiscal year $25,347,041,168.45; budget deficit $2,911,639,611.70; total debt $256,559,484,415.24; decrease under previous day $21,871,501.36; gold assets $24,343,562,367.75.

Air Force Plans New Rescue Helicopter

This artist's drawing illustrates one of the ways the Air Force plans to use the new specially-designed twin-engine helicopter, the Piascock H-21, developed for air rescue service. The H-21 will be equipped with inflatable pontoons with built-in skis surrounding each of three wheels to permit landings on water, snow, ice or land. The craft will have a power hoist for bringing survivors aboard in areas where a landing cannot be made, as illustrated above. The helicopter will be 54 feet long, with a 20-foot cabin that can carry up to 27 persons. Builder is the Piascock Helicopter Corp., Morton, Pa.

Mayor Holds Talk On Coal Situation; 'Is Not Alarming'

Present coal supplies in Kingston are sufficient and not alarming, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk's solid fuel industry committee reported this morning during a special meeting in the mayor's office at city hall.
The committee, meeting with Mayor Newkirk and Harry C. Krom, district coal coordinator, had surveyed the local coal situation before reporting at today's parley.
Krom, engineer of the state public works department, has been named Ulster county coal coordinator by James S. Dixey, state regional coordinator for the Mid-Hudson Valley.
Action to begin studies in the state's coal situation was started last week-end when Gov. Thomas E. Dewey appointed Bertram D. Tallamy as the state's solid fuel administrator.
Mayor Newkirk summoned local committeemen to today's meeting upon receipt of a letter from Gov. Dewey requesting all public committees on coal to consult with the district coordinator and the local committee from the coal industry.
The mayor also announced this morning that he had contacted the office of Senator Arthur J. Wicks in Albany in an effort to get a copy of the emergency legislation which was voted upon in Albany by the Legislature Tuesday for study by the special committees.
Members of the various committees are expected to meet today.

McGrath Says Department Will Strike at Gambling

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Attorney General J. Howard McGrath today threw the weight of the federal government behind community drives on organized crime, especially gambling.
In a speech before federal, state and local law enforcement authorities, the attorney general said that commercialized gambling in the form of book-making, slot machines and the numbers racket are yearly draining off billions of dollars from legitimate business.
To end this, he said the Justice Department "stands ready to give every possible assistance."
McGrath spoke before a "conference on law enforcement problems." He himself called the meeting to offer any legal aid at the disposal of his department in curbing gambling operations, recently described by F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover as "the next egg of the criminal underworld which operates throughout this country."
Those attending included representatives of the United States

Explosive Air Hangs Over Talks

Contempt Proceedings Might Follow, if Talks Fail; Federal Aides Stand By

Some Hope Held

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—John L. Lewis and soft coal operators sit down today in court-directed peace talks with government mediators standing by.
An explosive air hung over the bargaining—with a full-fledged strike still in progress in the coal fields. A close-to-home development was the start of an informal coal rationing system in the District of Columbia.
An estimated 372,000 members of Lewis' United Mine Workers Union stayed idle in the face of a Federal Court's back-to-work order.
The men even disregarded a message from Lewis telling the miners he had no choice, because of the court order, but to instruct them to end their walkout.
Government officials watched the bargaining session closely. If the talks fail and the strike continues much longer, the Justice Department may go into court with contempt proceedings against the union.
Cyrus S. Chang, federal medical service director, and David L. Cole, chairman of President Truman's fact-finding board on the dispute, were ready to step in to encourage the bargaining at any time. A back-to-work order also was to keep the White House informed on developments.
There were hopes of a settlement for and against success in achieving an agreement to end the coal mine pact which expired way back last June.
Favorable factors included:
1. The gravity of the situation brought on by the coal shortage, and the fact that the miners had agreed to a 40-hour week under the 1947-48 pact.
2. Lewis is reported by Federal Judge Richmond B. Keen to drop out of his most controversial demands. These are the 40-hour week, which requires miners to work more than 40 hours a week, and the 40-hour week, which requires miners to work more than 40 hours a week.

Race Riots Flaring In South Africa Area

Johannesburg, South Africa, Feb. 15 (AP)—The second race riot in two days flared in Johannesburg's native quarter last night. Five stores were set afire, automobiles were stoned and several persons were wounded as natives and police fired on each other.
With white-black antagonism rising, citizens felt they were sitting on a powder keg which authorities said threatened to explode into an ugly racial war. Native spokesmen said the unrest was due to the government's segregation policies.
The outbreak at New Clare Township apparently was a reaction to the arrest earlier yesterday of 250 natives at the scene of bloody rioting the night before in which five natives and an Indian woman were wounded.

McGrath spoke before a "conference on law enforcement problems." He himself called the meeting to offer any legal aid at the disposal of his department in curbing gambling operations, recently described by F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover as "the next egg of the criminal underworld which operates throughout this country."

Egypt Is Plagued By Drug Smugglers

CAIRO Feb. 15 (AP)—Egypt is the main target of Middle East drug smugglers.

The Egyptian Narcotics Bureau warning total war against drug smuggling reported that in 1949 it had seized 2,000,000 pounds of opium (83,600,000 U.S.) worth of narcotics being smuggled into the Nile kingdom. Most of these drugs, however, opium and heroin, were produced in neighboring countries.

But the Narcotics Bureau admitted during the same period that smugglers managed to sneak past coast guard posts and camel patrols narcotics valued at more than 8,000,000 pounds Egyptian ($22,640,000 U.S.).

Drug smuggling has plagued Egypt from the times of the Arabian nights. After World War I it grew to such proportions that authorities decided to launch an all-out effort to crush it.

A Narcotics Bureau was created, working in close touch with the League of Nations and later the United Nations. The Egyptian law was stiffened to provide for long prison terms for both smugglers and addicts. A strict watch on Egypt's borders was enforced. These measures did not deter smugglers, however, by profits ranging from 500 to 1,000 per cent. Their efforts to outsmart the authorities led to many ingenious tricks.

Heroin smuggled down over the border in metal tubes which their camels swallowed. Once the frontier inspection was passed they slaughtered the animals, inspection by X-ray machines finally put a stop to this practice.

Other tricks, too, eventually were foiled by the authorities, but government statistics still are hitting the jackpot in many instances.

The main offender among drugs smuggled past Egyptian frontiers is hashish, which is very much like marijuana.

Electrical heating cable, wrapped around outdoor water pipes, has simplified the winter care of livestock and poultry.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

FROM PITCHFORK TO PICK-UP is the story of the mechanization of haymaking in America during the first half of the Twentieth Century. The change in haymaking methods is typical of many changes made in agriculture as farming grew into big business. Haymaking by hand was a hot, hard job, with a good chance of losing much of the crop to the weather. Today, the lower scene is the common one, with most of the work done by machines like the field forage harvester seen in operation near Holland, Pa. A fast-spreading system of grassland farming depends largely on machines which pick up and bale or chop forage crops automatically. Farming men expect machines to do more and more of the punishing work on the farms in the next half century.

Japan Seeks Russian Gold

Tokyo, (AP)—A salvage company is undertaking to find the huge hoard of gold that an old fisherman insists he saw the Russians dump into the sea back in 1905. The story of the fisherman, Katsujiro Matsuo, is that one day off Sasebo southern Japan, he saw a Russian ship which had been surrendered in the final days of the Russo-Japanese war. As it was preparing to enter Sasebo harbor, he says, he saw sailors throw over the side 16 cases of gold ingots. As a round guess, Japanese say such a quantity should be worth $140,000,000. Matsuo fished vainly for the wealth for many years. In 1932, prompted by his insistence, the Japanese navy made an unsuccessful try for it. Now the Nippon Shinkai industrial company, a salvage outfit, has taken up the hunt.

Changes Number

Sierra Madre, Calif. (AP)—The government is building a post office at what should be 309 Sierra Madre St. But the number on the building will be 303. Inspector William Lees explained that officials erroneously listed the address as 303 when they mailed approval of the new site. "We decided it would be simpler to change the building number than risk involvement in tied tape by insisting that the government change the number on its records," he said.

Federal Income Tax Information

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington (AP)—Midnight of March 15 is the deadline for settling up on your 1949 income tax.

If your 1949 income was $600 or more, you must file a return, whether or not you owe any tax. If you owe any, you must pay it in full.

This applies to every man, woman and child, married or single, who had $600 or more income in 1949.

Under $600 income is free of tax. If you less-than-$600 income in 1949 had some tax withheld from it, the government will return it—but only if you file a return. It's the only way you can get a refund.

The internal revenue collector has sent most people income tax blanks. If you don't have yours, you can get it at the nearest collector's office or at most banks and postoffices.

A number of points will be explained separately and in detail in the other 11 stories of this series such as:

Who uses what form for filing his return, the problem of husband-wife filing and their filing of joint returns, exemptions, deductions, dependents, and how to fill out various forms.

Keep these highlights in mind. In every case where the wife has no income, a couple can't lose money by filing a joint return. Joint returns will save money even in most cases where husband and wife both had incomes.

That's because under present law husbands and wives are allowed to split their income, each claiming half, thus throwing each half into a lower bracket and making the total tax less.

Watch your exemptions. Each exemption you can rightfully claim means $600 chopped off your income before what's left of it can be taxed.

Each person filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself, $600 for each dependent, and $600 for his wife if she had no income or files jointly with him. If she had income and files a return separately, she claims her own $600 exemption.

In addition to the usual $600 exemption he gets for himself, anyone filing a return also gets an additional $600 off if he's blind, and another $600 off if he's 65 or older. He gets the same extra $600 exemptions for his wife if she's blind or 65. But he does not get these extra exemptions for a dependent.

And—watch your deductions as a way of reducing your tax.

To cut down the length of these stories, repetition will be avoided where possible. So it is suggested you clip each story of this series as it appears, for ready reference on a point that may be mentioned briefly in one story but explained more fully in another.

C.I.O. Is Bargainer At Knust Plant

HUDSON, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—The C.I.O. today was the collective bargaining agent for workers at the Knust plant.

The work is being done by the only one of the C.I.O. Local Unions, Local 100, which has a total of 200 workers.

A group of workers, who were protesting when the C.I.O. Local Union 100 was elected, are now being paid by the company a total of $100,000 a year. The strike was called off by the company, and the C.I.O. Local Union 100 was elected.

At that time, the workers had no official contract with the company, but the C.I.O. Local Union 100 was elected.

The Knust plant is in Hudson, N. Y., and is one of the largest in the area.

Bates Wins Father's Seat in Congress

Haverhill, Mass., Feb. 15 (AP)—Lt. Cmdr. William H. Bates has won his father's old congressional seat after a strange campaign that saw him sitting on the sidelines—silenced by naval regulations against engaging in politics. But Republicans quickly halted his sweeping victory as an indication the G.O.P. had found a winning formula—"new faces and a 1950 outlook." The Democrats had no immediate comment.

The 32-year-old naval officer was drafted by G.O.P. leaders to run after his father, U. S. Rep. George J. Bates, was killed in an airliner crash over Washington four months ago.

And he came through by piling up 43,947 votes yesterday in his first bid for political office against only 16,422 for Richard M. Russell, 58, veteran Democratic campaigner.

Young Bates, leaving his campaign in the hands of veteran G.O.P. strategists, carried all 26 cities and towns in the sixth district which runs along the Massachusetts north shore.

While the district has always gone Republican in congressional fights by decisive margins, President Truman's 7,000 edge in the presidential race there in 1948 led the Democrats to make a determined challenge.

The elder Bates was unopposed in winning a seventh term that year.

Carney to Discuss Rainmaking With Scientist Langmuir

Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—New York city's water commissioner came here today to ask one of the nation's top rainmakers about producing rain for the thirsty metropolis—possibly at $20 a downpour.

Commissioner Stephen S. Carney was slated to confer with Dr. Irving Langmuir, Nobel Prize winning scientist and a pioneer in man-made rain experiments.

In advance of the private, all-day huddle at the General Electric Laboratory, Langmuir said he would only advise New York city officials and would not participate in any rain-making project if such were undertaken. He said, however, he believed the project was "worth trying."

The conference coincided with reports of an increase in the amount of water in New York city's reservoirs, resulting from rain, snow and sleet in the upstate watershed Monday and Tuesday.

The reservoir level yesterday was 134,082,000,000 gallons, a not far from 789,000,000 gallons over Monday's level. Total capacity is 253,136,000,000.

New Yorkers used a daily average of 876,000,000 gallons of water last week.

Langmuir, who retired last month as executive director of the General Electric Research Laboratory, is chief consultant of "Project Cirrus," a weather experiment conducted jointly by the Army Signal Corps, the Office of Naval Research and General Electric.

Langmuir announced recently that, with members of the project, he "seeded" clouds over New Mexico last July from the ground, using sodium iodide smoke, a new technique. Previously rain was produced artificially by sprinkling clouds with dry ice from airplanes.

Langmuir said the New Mexico experiment resulted in rainfall of 320,000,000,000 gallons, more than enough to fill all of New York city's reservoirs, starting empty.

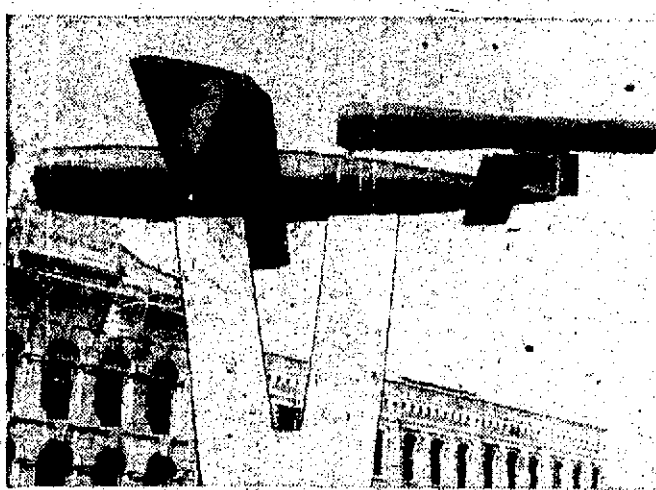

This deluge was produced by about 10 ounces of chemicals costing $20, he said.

Kingston Lions Club's annual sale of Blind Aid Seals got under way today with the mailing of letters and sheets of seals to area residents.

Proceeds of the sale enable the Lions Club to do extensive work with the blind, "and those who might otherwise become blind." It was explained by Lions President Theodore R. Lee.

Such projects as purchase of eye glasses, specialist examinations, eye operations, special schooling for children with defective speech, assistance to local juvenile programs and youth guidance, medical and operational care for emergency cases and contributions to local clinics were aided by public support of the Blind Aid Seal campaign last year.

The seals are of two designs, one depicting a rose and the other an orchid. Each bear the legend, "Be Thankful You Can See," which is also the 1950 campaign slogan.

Warren F. Smith is chairman of the Blind Aid Seals campaign. The program is administered by the sight conservation and blind committee of the club, of which Richard M. Kalish is chairman. Other members of the committee are Roger E. Schwartz, Edward D. Holland, John A. DeGasperis, and Warren F. Smith and Ben Sison.

News is news but oftentimes for better understanding it needs interpretation.

That is the function of our editorial page. On this page our editors seek to interpret without bias the known facts in many situations which are puzzling to the average reader.

Editorials at their best generate thoughts worth thinking. The shal-

HEART CAMPAIGN
The American Heart Association is conducting a campaign to obtain funds to permit more research on the causes, prevention and treatment of this disease. The money thus raised is spent principally on supporting research by means of which alone can we hope for some real solution to this killer.
The objectives of this campaign and the purposes towards which the funds are put are in keeping with the best traditions of extending the boundaries of medical knowledge.
The key to the problem of heart disease is more knowledge. Only by obtaining more knowledge will it become possible for physicians to aid in developing better methods of prevention and improved treatments. That is why we should support this drive, which runs through the month of February.
Red plastic hearts, symbol of the annual heart campaign, are appearing on store counters and in public places in Kingston and in various Ulster county communities.
Seventy per cent of the funds collected here will be spent in Ulster county for services in this area. The remaining thirty per cent will support a national program of research and education of the American Heart Association in its fight against this country's leading cause of death.

BILL OF RIGHTS
Bill of Rights Week currently being observed is an official part of the school program and is in accordance with legislation passed by the State Legislature in 1940.
Associate Commissioner of Education Harry V. Gilson in urging special emphasis this year on the observance of Bill of Rights Week states that each generation has given new insights into liberty, redefining and extending its goals in the light of its own problems. Today's struggle is largely against the slavery of totalitarianism. To achieve our goals, we who love liberty must overcome formidable economic problems, prejudice and fear; for the mind shackled to such shadows is not free. Our system of public education gives each individual an opportunity to achieve this liberation.

WEAPONS AND FIGHTING
A new weapon for combat in the air has been announced by the Navy. It is a rocket missile, which can be carried in quantity by fighter planes, fast enough and powerful enough to overtake and destroy any type of military airplane now known. It would seem that such a weapon, coupled with radar devices which enable an attacking plane to find its target in the dark, ought to bring the end of air fighting. How could air combat go on under such conditions?
For a suggested answer, reflection might be turned to the simplest form of organized combat, the duel between two persons. Duels were fought with slings, clubs, staves, swords—and then one day the dueling pistol appeared. Duels were permitted to stand a few paces apart, take careful aim and fire simultaneously at each other. It might have been thought that this weapon should bring the end of dueling, which would thereafter mean certain death. How could they miss?
But duels did miss, and dueling went right on without any discernible dampening of enthusiasm. Probably every chap who wanted to fight a duel figured that the other fellow would miss. Sometimes he did.
The same reasoning applies to wars, the most complicated form of organized combat. The leaders who want a war will always figure that human weakness, affecting the finger on the trigger of a rocket launcher as well as that which fires a muzzle-loading dueling pistol, will be the undoing of the other side. Wars will not be ended by the invention of new weapons. They will only be ended by the desire for peace in men's minds.

RESTRAINT OF PRODUCTION

The essence of the new proposals of John L. Lewis is a mutual agreement between the operators of mines and the United Mine Workers to restrain the production of coal. Such an agreement would be a violation, on the part of the operators, of the Sherman anti-trust law. Those who might be tempted to enter into such an agreement, including John L. Lewis, could be held for criminal conspiracy against the people of the United States.

It is this "illegal" demand that has got John L. Lewis into his present trouble. Nor can the government assist him. Businessmen have learned that when the administration instructs a business to violate the law, the courts may still regard their acts as a violation of the law.

The question that John L. Lewis raises, however, is more important than coal. Since the N.R.A. days, the United States has tended toward a Fascistic control of production. Under the N.R.A., this was to be accomplished by a voluntary agreement among trade associations, labor unions and the National Recovery Administration. However, there was nothing voluntary about it. General Hugh Johnson instituting a blackmail device, namely, "The Blue Eagle"—thus penalizing those who did not go along.

In the "Sick Chicken Case" (Schechter vs. U. S.), the United States Supreme Court outlawed the N.R.A. Chief Justice Hughes wrote in this case:

"The Constitution established a national government with powers deemed to be adequate, as they have proved to be both in war and peace, but these powers of the national government are limited by the constitutional grants. Those who act under these grants are not at liberty to transcend the imposed limits because they believe that more or different power is necessary."

Since that time, the government has utilized its powers to overcome such limitations not only by legislation but by regulatory administration. The Wagner Act is a case in point. It was definitely an attempt to produce controls over and limitations upon production by a combination of labor unions and a government agency.

The Wagner Act was so cleverly written that its ultimate purposes do not appear in at all; it is a product of the Aesopian language so often referred to in the case of the Communist in Judge Harold Keenan's court. Nevertheless, the effects were immediately felt in the large number of strikes; in the enforcement of union membership; and in the limitations on production from which this country did not free itself even during war.

In the case of N.L.R.B. vs. Jones and Laughlin, Chief Justice Hughes reversed himself in a decision abounding in curious technicalities which apparently were devised by the skillful men who drew the act. Les Freeman and Nathan Witt. For instance, Justice Hughes said:

"The cardinal principle of statutory construction is to save and not to destroy. We have repeatedly held that as between two possible interpretations of a statute, by one of which it would be unconditional and on the other valid, our plain duty is to adopt that which will save the act, even to avoid a serious doubt of the rule is the same."

Since this decision, numerous steps have been taken to limit production, particularly in natural resources and in agricultural products. The current scandals with regard to potatoes and eggs are cases in point. In the matter of Carter vs. Carter Coal Company, the dissenting opinion of Mr. Justice Cardozo states the views of the New Deal on this subject:

"After making every allowance for difference of opinion as to the most efficient cure, the student of the subject is confronted with the indisputable truth that there were ill to be corrected, and ill that had a direct relation to the maintenance of commerce among the states without friction or diversion. An evil existing, and also the power to correct it, the law-makers were at liberty to use their own discretion in the selection of the means."

This can be interpreted as removing from Congress all limitations relating to imposing restraints upon production. What John L. Lewis seeks to do for his sick coal industry is to make a deal between the operator and the union to restrain production. (Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

ALCOHOL AND THE LIVER

Some months ago a newspaper headline stated that in examining the liver of alcoholics after death there seemed to be no difference between cirrhosis or hardening of the liver in alcoholics and the same condition in those who drink soft drinks. The implication was that soft drinks were as harmful or as harmless as alcoholic drinks. This was not the idea that these research workers had in mind. It is like the story of the alcoholic who challenged the temperance lecturer, asking "if water will rot the sole of my shoe, what will it do to the lining of my stomach?"

The true condition of the working cells of the liver and kidney is determined by the length of time it takes these cells to remove harmful or unwanted substances from the blood. A picture of the damage done to the liver cells by alcohol is recorded in "Gastroenterology" (stomach, liver, intestine) by Drs. Walter L. Voegtlin, William R. Brox and Margery H. Moss. These research workers performed tests of the working ability of the liver (removing unwanted substances, manufacturing bile, storing sugar) on 25 male and 35 female chronic alcoholics (average age about 43) all of whom were from the upper and middle classes of society, none being destitute or showing evidences of alcoholic deterioration. They found that there was slowness or delay on the part of the liver cells in ridding the blood of harmful substances and in doing their other jobs. That is, there was a sluggishness in the work being done in the liver of the alcoholic. In what is known as a screening procedure, they were unable to detect in all patients some degree of liver damage.

This result does not conflict with the report of the research workers who did not find hardening of the liver (cirrhosis) more prevalent in alcoholics, because it is "fatty generation," rather than cirrhosis, that is the resultant damage from alcohol. The lesson for us from above information is that alcohol does damage the liver by causing fatty degeneration, just as serious a condition as cirrhosis (hardening, blocking) of the liver.

Remember that the liver is the largest organ and does more jobs than any other organ.

Liver and Gall Bladder

The liver does more different kinds of work than any other organ in the body. Anything that interferes with its work upsets all the body processes. The gall bladder can cause many distressing symptoms. Send 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y., and ask for your copy of "Liver and Gall Bladder."

bargain sales. Western clothes, it says in the order, are not worthy of Soviet womanhood.

There were some two thousand Russian wives in Berlin who had discovered the bargain sales and who were affected by the order. If subsequent reports indicate that they henceforth avoided the bargain counters, we shall be ready to concede that the Soviet regime really has things under control in its bailiwick.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Atom scientists have secretly informed the Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy that there is absolutely no way to determine the cost of the frightful H-bomb until it is built.

However, they have further testified that the new bomb would cost a lot less than original estimates, which ran into billions of dollars.

This is because a great deal of equipment now used for making atom bombs can be reused or easily converted to the production of H-bombs.

Officials of the Atomic Energy Commission also have informed the committee behind closed doors that the hydrogen bomb can be made for considerably less than the estimated $2,000,000,000 cost of the original atom bomb.

The atom chiefs revealed, in fact, that all they would need to get started on production of the H-bomb is $30,000,000, chiefly for special facilities and new laboratory equipment.

This $30,000,000 is already well on the way to Congressional approval, being included in the $450,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill that passed the House last week though only a few House members knew they were voting for H-bomb funds.

Taft Applauds Harry
When President Truman addressed Congress recently, Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas, sitting beside Senators Ken Wherry of Nebraska and Bob Taft of Ohio, had to do the applauding for the Republicans. Finally he whispered to Wherry: "After all, this is the President of the United States. You ought to applaud whether you mean it or not."

Wherry moved his hands politely, but Taft kept his folded. Finally Lucas nudged Wherry again and asked him to suggest that Taft applaud too. Taft ignored this, until Truman came to his appeal for a National Science Foundation, which Taft had endorsed. At this mention, Taft clapped wildly.

Then he turned to Lucas and remarked dryly: "I want you to know that I have complied with your request."

Remaking John L. Lewis
Washington's rough-and-tumble news photographers, who have seen about everything, are flab-

In the old days when Lewis was asked to pose for a picture, the answer was a snarl or a view of his back.

But today, when the boys clamor "just one more," Lewis is as sweet as a fairy godmother. He will even make gestures.

Credit goes to his new public relations expert, Justin McCarthy, who has convinced Lewis that the way to make friends and influence people is to be nice to the photographers.

The Other Lewis
Sitting in sessions with the coal operators, however, Lewis is another man—as witness the "you-are-a-lar-by-the-clock" charge hurled at George Love, president of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company.

What inspired this piece of verbal gunplay was Love's testimony at the fact-finding inquiry that Lewis had declared during negotiations with the operators that he had 400,000 coal miners "in the palm of his hand" and urged the operators to bid for their labor. Love was referring to a closed-door meeting at which Lewis charged that the operators were controlled by "bankers who wanted to make 'slaves' of the miners."

When Love insisted that Lewis offer some specific proposals for a new work contract, the mine labor boss replied:

"This is our bargaining technique. It is a poor, poor thing, but it is the best we have. Our labor is what we have to offer. You cannot work the mines without men."

Then Lewis extended a cupped hand and added:

"I have 400,000 miners. What am I bid?"

However, last week when Love said that Lewis had 400,000 miners in the palm of his hand, the mine boss said it was an "infamous lie" and added for emphasis, "Mr. Love, you are a lar by the clock."

President Truman got into a discussion of Bibles the other day after Senator Humphrey of Minnesota presented him with a gavel made by Vigo Rasmussen, a Danish cabinetmaker from Minneapolis.

"You know," smiled the President, "I collect just two things—gospels and Bibles."

With these two you should be able to keep law and order," replied Humphrey.

Proudly the President produced a gilt-edged Bible inscribed to "Harry S. Truman" from the American Bible Society; also pulled a copy of the Book of Mormon out of a side drawer, explained it had been given to him by George Albert Smith, president of the Mormon church.

Biggest book in his collection of scriptures, however, is a giant copy of the Koran, presented by the prime minister of Pakistan.

"It took a whole hide of a sheep to make the sheepskin cover," twinkled Truman.

The President made it clear that he not only collects scriptures, but also studies them.

Truman Predicts
Since Senator Humphrey has a reputation as a scrapper for civil rights, the conversation finally got around to civil-rights legislation. The President reiterated his determination to see the civil-rights program through, and stressed the effect of such a program on our foreign policy. It is difficult to preach democracy abroad while we are practicing discrimination at home, he pointed out, and when the Russians are capitalizing on this weak link in our democratic armor.

Truman predicted that, despite stiff Southern opposition, the civil-rights battle would be won—though "maybe not in a week." He pointed to hopeful signs of tolerance in the South, and spoke highly of progressive Southern legislators. He particularly singled out Sen. Frank Graham of North Carolina and Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas.

When the largest insurance company in North Carolina can be headed by a Negro, Truman added, the South is making great strides toward racial tolerance.

'Visions' Stimulate Search
Singapore (AP)—Visions of a soldier on the shores of a lake have provoked British security forces in Malaya to renew their hunt for Brigadier M. D. Eiskine, commander of the Second Guards Brigade. He has been missing since Oct. 30 on a flight between Mentakao, in Pahang state, to Kuala Lumpur, the federal capital. "The visions" tallied so remarkably that we could not afford to ignore them," said an army spokesman.

Nation at Large Is Asking Some New Method for Dealing With Russians

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 15—From all over the country mail is pouring in on the government—the Congress and the executive branch—urging that some new method of dealing with the Russian problem be devised.

Undoubtedly the speech of Senator McMahon of Connecticut started the chain reaction. But the statement by Secretary of State Acheson that useful agreements with the present Russian government are not likely for a long, long time has done more than anything else perhaps to stimulate the demand for some other approach.

A rising interest in psychological warfare is being manifested, with the suggestion that more attention be given to a means of reaching the hearts and minds of the Russian people. Much comment is heard on the importance of increasing the funds appropriated by Congress for the "Voice of America" and its radio broadcasts. But, outside of this, the exponents of an alternative to the policy of "armed waiting" have been criticized as not being explicit.

Here is, therefore, the outline of a plan that might offer the basis for action, assuming that the American government really desires to take decisive steps instead of drifting and waiting:

(1) Formal announcement that the American government does not see much prospect of securing agreements on world peace with the present Russian government and an appeal to the Russian people to bring about either a change of government or a change of policy that will permit the world to reduce armaments and live in peace.

(2) Formal announcement of the assembling of a group of economic specialists, engineers, labor union and industrial leaders, to prepare a comprehensive five-year plan of aid to the Russian people. The plan should include a study of Russian needs of electric power, agricultural equipment, manufactured products, transportation improvements and communication facilities, and a study of economic system of free enterprise with co-operation and direct aid in the form of loans and grants from the governments of a group of nations including the United States. This should be accompanied by a study of the ultimate cost of the plan. The recommendations should be broadcast to the Russian people and leaflets distributed so that they will reach at least a minority of the people.

(3) A similar study of the needs of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, together with a comprehensive representation by radio and leaflets to the peoples of the satellite countries.

(4) A formal study to be initiated by the United Nations examining the needs of sovereign states who would accept and apply the principles of international cooperation. This would look toward an eventual exchange from the United Nations of any government which does not have the capacity of the will to measure up to the definition of international responsibility as set forth in the Charter of the United Nations. The United States, Great Britain and France would be invited to present the historical record of their diplomatic intercourse as a basis for action on a resolution which would threaten to remove the standard for admission of governments to or expulsion of governments from the United Nations.

Such a program should specify the freedom and liberties of the individual which all governments must grant as a prerequisite to continued membership in the United Nations.

The foregoing points are by no means all-inclusive but they represent the beginnings of what is often referred to as the exercise of moral force—an appeal to the reason of the world and the reason of oppressed peoples.

Such a program might offer hope to resistance movements behind the Iron Curtain and it might lead to change in governments or internal situations that would influence the present Russian government to alter its course.

To apply the power of psychological penetration plus explicit financial aid is certainly worth a trial. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

On May 2, 1941, Hjalmar J. Procopce, the Finnish Minister to the United States, presented to Mrs. James Roosevelt, the mother of Franklin D. Roosevelt, a rare vase carved from rock crystal. The value of this work of art is unknown to me. Mr. Procopce, now living in New York, can only say that it was "not without value."

Mrs. James Roosevelt died on Sept. 7, 1941.

Mrs. Simone V. Miller, of Albany, N. Y., is the wife of Earl Miller, a former New York state policeman and physical instructor in the navy, living apart from him under a legal separation.

Mrs. Miller, a native of Belgium but an American citizen, says this vase was given to her husband. She understood that it was worth about $500. It occupied a niche in their home in Loudonville, a relatively aristocratic and expensive suburb of Albany.

She says the niche was built to accommodate the vase and that it was there from some time about 1941 until they were separated in the autumn of 1946 when she complained to her lawyer that her husband had been a weight lifter and instructor in gymnastics.

John J. Glavin, of Albany, the lawyer who first represented Mrs. Miller in her marital troubles, says he also saw the vase and read a story of its presentation on a sheet of paper in a frame above the niche. He procured some photographs of the vase in the niche, which was lined with black velvet.

Procopce's memory is vague, but he believes the gift was made to Roosevelt's mother because she had shown great interest in the Finnish exhibit at the World Fair in New York in 1939. Miller's story that it had some connection with the payment of an installment of the Finnish debt to the United States. She recalls that the vase was decorated with carvings depicting "the story of fame" whatever that might be.

Miller has been married three times. In 1932, at the Roosevelt mansion in Hyde Park, he remarried his second wife, a girl from Endicott, N. Y. Anna and Elliott Roosevelt were at the wedding. This was annulled. Miller became a bodyguard for Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt when Roosevelt was first elected governor of New York in 1938. Miller was a handsome man with a dashing manner. Because Roosevelt was physically handicapped and the mansion was a fire-trap, the detail of state police was augmented for a 24-hour watch and Miller was given command. Others in the detail came and went. Miller stayed at the Roosevelt Hotel for part of the time. He supervised the police force of guards at the state prisons. Colonel John Werner, who commanded the force in those days, recalls that he learned that Miller was living in an expensive house with a swimming pool and generally at a rate scarcely higher than that of state troopers without outside income.

Miller's third marriage to Miss Simone Van Haver, took place at Bannockburn, Ill., on June 23, 1941. They had two children, the younger a daughter named Anna Eleanor Miller. Miss Van Haver had been a waitress or hostess in the Ten Eyck Hotel in Albany at

Questions - Answers

Q—Was it originally planned to bury George Washington in the United States capital?
A—In the capital basement, beneath the dome, in an empty tomb Congress had planned to place the body of George Washington. However, after many proposals and much discussion, Washington's remains were moved to a new tomb at Mount Vernon, ordered erected in Washington's will 32 years earlier.

Q—What period of time is considered a generation?
A—Generally it is 33 years, thus allowing three generations to a century.

Q—What state had the first disability benefits program?
A—Rhode Island had the first disability benefits program, which went into effect in 1943. Two other states, California and New Jersey, have disability benefits laws in operation now, while New York's becomes fully effective July 1.

Q—How does a chanter differ from other folk songs?
A—In a chanter the rhythm is of much more importance than the words. Originally, chanters were used to help a group of men work in unison, with the leader or chanter singing half of the couplet and the whole group joining in on the chorus.

Q—What would be considered the most important item in agricultural mechanization?
A—Statistics show that the most important item in a cultural mechanization is the tractor.

My experience is that a chanter is more than a singer. He is a stronger, better person at the same time effecting a cultural change in the community.

Man Dies in Plunge From Building

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Laird Shields Goldsborough, former foreign editor of Time magazine, plunged to his death last night from the ninth floor of the Time-Life building in Rockefeller Center.

His hurtling body grazed a passer-by on the sidewalk before it crashed to the curb.

Joseph Padu, 37, a Czech Jeweler and recent immigrant, was dashed to the pavement by the blow but escaped with a head cut and shock.

Goldsborough, 47, fell through a steel storm. He was wearing topcoat, hat, gloves and rubbers, and was carrying a cane.

He wrote two brief notes before the plunge. One, which was torn up in his office waste basket, said to notify his brother-in-law.

The other, scribbled on the back of an envelope he carried to his death, said to notify his wife, the former Florence Macomahy.

Mrs. Goldsborough's old husband had not been ill.

Goldsborough was the son of a prominent consulting engineer and economist, Walter Elwell Goldsborough of (Bonnebrook, Matthews Park South) Norwalk, Conn.

He was a Yale graduate, and became assistant editor of Fortune magazine in the Luce group in 1929, foreign editor of Time in 1935, and special assistant to Time's chairman of the board in 1940.

He was born March 6, 1902, at Lafayette, Ind.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—Criticism of the Marshall Plan's aims and performance isn't confined to this side of the Atlantic, where it is growing both in Congress and in the business world.

It may come as a shock to some Americans, but Uncle Sam's heart, stripped of the Valentine face and forget-me-nots, doesn't look quite so big to many Europeans today as it does to him.

Many Europeans evidently believe Uncle Sam is trying to make a necessity look like a virtue, and is seeking a shrewd bargain.

Many Americans, on the other hand, think Europe is using its tax dollars to wage a world trade war, to them, that looks quite a bit like biting the hand that feeds you.

They note that today Britain boasts it is now the world's largest exporter of cars and trucks—while American exports are falling. And today Britain's dollar exports board chief says it's time for the British to drop good will missions and start sending salesmen into the dollar markets.

However, on both sides of the Atlantic, most people seem to feel that the Marshall Plan is still the best way available to fight the spread of communism.

What do many Europeans really think of Marshall Plan motives and performance? According to American observers back from there—both those in government and in business—large and important segments of the European public think something like this:

1. The Marshall Plan was born of America's need to move large surpluses of farm products and manufactured goods; its real aim was to cure America's political and economic headaches.

2. When the chips are down, Americans won't let Europe export to the United States if it competes with American surplus production; in spite of all the fine words, many American businessmen really don't want the trade gap between U. S. exports and imports closed.

3. America will exclude European businessmen from domestic markets—Europe is making much of the rejection by the city of Seattle for installing some electrical generating equipment, and the awarding of the contract to an American firm on a higher bid. Seattle says that the British bids didn't meet her requirements, but the European press has been making a big thing of it.

4. Europeans say that U. S. tariffs and custom red-tape keep imports out; they contend that a 50 per cent cut in tariffs would let $1½ billion more European goods into this country, to help close the trade gap.

5. The Marshall Plan is chiefly a weapon in the cold war, and some form of it will be kept up as long as Russia threatens to move in.

And what do Americans think of Europe's motives and performance? A large segment of American public opinion seems to hold that:

1. Europe isn't helping itself enough; won't learn new industrial methods; won't try to learn how to compete in the American home market.

2. Europe is less interested in machine tools for developing its industrial plant than in handouts of consumer goods.

3. Europeans are using Marshall dollars to bolster their home economies, leaving them free to use a two-price system to capture world markets by underselling Americans.

4. Europe is more interested in taking world markets away from Americans than in lowering the trade gap with the United States, or in solving the dollar shortage by any other means than a hand-out.

5. American exports are falling; Europe is raising bans against American goods; American companies, such as oil firms, are cut out of sterling markets, while Marshall Plan dollars build English refineries.

6. Europe's imports, made by cheap labor and underpriced through currency cheapening, will soon flood American markets, ruining American industries—examples, the American watch makers and the textile mills.

Obviously, some of these American ideas contradict others. And some of the European popular notions seem far-fetched to Americans. The officially expressed views of the governments involved jibe with neither set of popular beliefs.

But the Marshall Plan, to achieve its goal, will have to work at the popular level, and it's there that the areas of misunderstanding must be cleared up—or, it may be, a more frank understanding reached.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE
Baltimore (AP)—The traveling salesman stood at his hotel window and looked out at Baltimore in the rain.

"Why is it all cities look alike in the rain?" he thought. "Look out at any city when it rains, and where are you—Baltimore? St. Louis? Milwaukee? Boston? Denver? Munich or London? They're all the same."

He glanced down at the wet street, where the water had collected in pools, making a sudden sordid scene.

"And the people," he thought, "they all look the same. Rain does it to them, too."

The salesman went back and scribbled a note to his boss. "Old Cradgie is still with us, Bob," he wrote. "He gave me a lot of trouble, but he finally ended up by giving us his usual order. So I guess we won't have to close the plant yet. Things are going well, I think I'll make the other two stops you mentioned before I pull back in."

That would make his home office happy, he knew. But about that other thing—the letter from his wife. The salesman moodily pulled it from his pocket and read it again:

"John, I can't take much more of this—your going away all the time. It was hard enough to stand while the children were young. But since they are going, I just get so lonely I can't go on this way..."

The salesman lit a cigar and went restlessly to the window and looked out at the rain for a while. Then he came back and read some more from the letter.

"You keep saying I'm your life now, but I think your job is your whole life, and always has been. You knew our anniversary was coming up, and how I feel about anniversaries. But when Bob said he didn't want to send a younger man on this trip because it was too important, you agreed right away to go. You always do..."

The salesman puffed his cigar and read on:

"It's no excuse for you to say you have to earn all the money you can now, so you can quit work early and we can enjoy life. I want to live my life now, not when I am an old woman. Just remember that..."

He put away the letter and picked up the phone. Better send along some flowers, he thought.

"Yes, a dozen—the long-stemmed ones," he said. "And a card, saying: 'Happy anniversary from the heart away to the heart at home. See you in three days.'"

He hung up the phone and thought, "Maybe that'll sound too mushy to her. You never can tell what they'll think. But if I'd just said, 'happy anniversary, love'—well, she might..."

The salesman left the thought unfinished. He looked out the window again.

"Rainy days, rainy days," he mused. "Thank God, I don't have to try to sell rainy days to people."

Across the way, in the cornice of a weathered building, he saw two pigeons huddled, feather to feather, out of the rain's reach.

"I wonder," he thought, "if homing pigeons still have to go on delivering messages after they've finished raising their young?"

The salesman turned away. "I'll bet if they do, their wives don't understand why," he said out loud.

And he began to pack his grip: Pittsburgh tomorrow. Rain or shine.

Woman Collects Pipes
Santa Ana, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Frieda L. Clayton has an odd hobby for a woman. She collects pipes. In 30 years she has acquired more than 450 rare models, big pipes, little pipes, carved pipes, plain pipes, opium pipes and even water pipes. One specimen is a hollowed out briar burl, once the proud possession of an Indian chief. Others are made of rosewood, walrus tusk, glass and clay. A 200 year old meerschaum has a herd of horses carved on its bowl. The rosewood model has a stem fashioned from the leg and hoof of a deer. Some are inlaid with gold and mother of pearl. No pipe though she runs a pipe shop. Mrs. Clayton doesn't smoke her treasured pipes.

MAJOR CAUSE OF OIL BURNER SERVICE CALLS NOW ELIMINATED!

MOST IMPORTANT FUEL OIL DEVELOPMENT IN 15 YEARS—

NEW SHELL FUEL OIL WITH

FOA-5X

Good news for you this winter! New Shell Fuel Oil contains a unique ingredient FOA-5X, especially developed to keep filter screens clean during the entire heating season. Clogged filter screens have long been recognized as a major cause of oil burner service calls.

FOA-5X Keeps Filter Screens Clean

Because of the anti-clogging property of FOA-5X, Shell Fuel Oil for home heating cleans as it heats.

Shell Scientists worked for 15 years

12 years of Shell research have gone into the development of FOA-5X. And 3 additional years were spent testing FOA-5X in thousands of homes with burner units of all types and with only normal summer maintenance. In every test the result was the same: not a single case of burner failure due to a clogged filter screen was reported!

FOA-5X helps keep your Fuel Tank from Rusting

More news too: new Shell Fuel Oil with FOA-5X has a powerful anti-rust action... which retards the formation of rust and scale inside your storage tank.

CALL 733 or 5801 Start using new Shell Fuel Oil with FOA-5X today

Shell Fuel Oil with FOA-5X is a new product—a superior product that overcomes the greatest cause of burner shutdown due to fuel. For carefree heat all winter long, call us today.

Uncle Sam Being Crowded by 1950 Crop of Potatoes

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Uncle Sam is finding himself crowded with surplus potatoes by the 1950 crop even before he has got rid of surpluses from the 1949 crop.

The Agriculture Department has bought more than 11,000 bushels of early potatoes grown in the South in Florida. The purchases were made in an effort to keep growers from dropping below levels required by law.

The 1950 crop is expected to be about $2.50 for 100 bushels for the Florida spuds.

The department is now in the process of buying a surplus of 1,000,000 bushels still in storage from last year's crop. The bulk of these potatoes will be dumped that it is made available to farmers for livestock feed or for food use at nominal prices or free of charge.

Stocks of marketable potatoes from the 1949 crops still held by growers and local dealers Feb. 1 totaled 118,800,000 bushels or more than a fourth of last year's production of about 400,000,000 bushels.

It is likely, officials said, that the government will have to buy one bushel out of every three of the Feb. 1 stocks. Officials now estimate that the price support program for the 1949 crop may cost upwards of $100,000,000. The cost for the 1948 crop was nearly $250,000,000.

What the 1950 program will cost is a question which can be answered only after the crop is in. Potato harvest begins in southern states as early as January.

The 1950 crop will be supported at an annual average rate of $1.00 a bushel compared with $1.10 for the 1949 crop. Support rates vary, however, by season of harvest type, and time of marketing. Rates are highest for the very early potatoes grown in southern states for the winter market.

EAT WELL for Less

MEAT LOAF IS A COMPANY DISH

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Staff Writer

If you bake a large juicy meat loaf, using beef pork and veal and flavor it subtly, you will have a no-worry meat dish for company. At the same time, bake potatoes and acorn squash. That's pretty easy, isn't it—and the result will be a bountiful, well-balanced and delicious menu for your guests.

Company Meat Loaf

One and one-quarter pounds ground beef, 1/2 pound ground pork, 1/2 pound ground veal, 1 egg, 1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper, 1/2 cup chopped parsley or celery leaves, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 1/2 teaspoons salt, 2 beaten eggs, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 4 slices cubed, soft bread, 1 cup warm milk.

Mix meats well. Add the garlic, green pepper, parsley or celery, seasonings, mustard, eggs and Worcestershire sauce. Soak bread cubes in warm milk. Add to meat mixture. Mix all ingredients thoroughly.

Using loaf pan, bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F) for 20 minutes. Then turn meat loaf out on a greased, shallow baking pan. (The meat loaf will keep its form, won't crack and will have a browned crust.)

Pour 1/2 cup boiling water around the loaf. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350 degrees F) for one hour. Baste with liquid every 15 minutes. Serve with Piquant Sauce.

Piquant Sauce

One 8-ounce can tomato sauce, 2 tablespoons house salad, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, few shakes tabasco sauce.

Combine tomato sauce and house salad and heat to boiling. Then add Worcestershire and tabasco.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST Stewed prunes, French toast, crisp bacon, syrup, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON Casserole of dried lima beans with choco sauce, mixed raw vegetable salad, sliced oranges, raisin cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER Company meat loaf, piquant sauce, baked potatoes, baked acorn squash, French bread, butter or fortified margarine, mixed green salad (cress, lettuce, and sliced cucumbers), French dressing, cherry gelatin with custard sauce, coffee, milk.

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

Wanted—A $2,000,000 Idea.

The other day I received a phone call from a pleasant-voiced gentleman. "This is Alfred Black of Hattiesburg, Mississippi," he said. "I read your recent piece about cancer research—the one in which you said that some foundations are spending too much for bricks and not enough for brains—and I'd like to come and talk to you."

"I'm pretty well tied up today," I said. "Couldn't we make it some time next week?"

"I've got to leave for Hattiesburg tomorrow," said Mr. Black. "I'm one of the trustees of the Black-Stevenson Cancer Foundation down there, and we're holding a series of meetings to decide how to use the two million dollars in our treasury. As a matter of fact, that's why I wanted to see you. Your column on cancer interested me very much. I thought you might have some notions on how we can best use the money."

"Hop a cab," I said. "I'll be faster. And be careful crossing the street."

Mr. Black turned out to be as affable as his voice, and it also turned out that he wasn't kidding about the two million. He and Mr. Charles H. Hardin of Newark, N. J., are sole trustees of a $2,000,000 fund, the bulk of which was left by his brother, John A. Black, who died some years ago of cancer of the kidneys. His will provided that his estate be used "for the charitable purpose of providing treatment and care, both preventive and remedial, and for needy persons who may be afflicted or threatened with the disease of cancer."

"How much of the two million have you spent so far?" I asked Mr. Black.

"I regret to say we haven't spent a penny of it," said my visitor. "Of course, the grant was approved by the courts only a few weeks ago, so we couldn't have done much before this, but now that the money is available we're at a loss where to begin."

"How about the clinics and research institutes already working on the problem?"

"We've investigated most of them pretty carefully," said Mr. Black, "and we haven't entirely convinced ourselves that my brother's wishes would be fully carried out if we parceled out the funds to them. I saw how John suffered before he died, and I want to be sure his money is going to be put to the fullest use before I turn it over to any organization."

"It sounds to me," I said, "as if you're looking for a way to spend the two million without duplicating the services and agencies already in existence."

Three Men Are Seized After Chase in New York

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Three Bronx men, all ex-convicts, were arrested by detectives yesterday on Sullivan Law and attempted robbery charges after a chase by automobile and on foot, police reported.

Police said the suspects, all negroes, identified themselves as Clarence Smith, 33, and Luther Matthews, 37, both of 450 St. Nicholas avenue, and Charles Wheat, 38, of 3342 104th street, Corona, Queens.

Detectives Maurice Barry, Aubrey Ferguson and Alfred Garcia said they became suspicious of the three negroes after observing them in an automobile at Forest Avenue and East 168th street. They followed them in the squad car for seven blocks, then pursued them on foot when the negroes abandoned their car.

The Detectives said Smith and Matthews carried automatic pistols and that ammunition was found in Matthews' apartment.

Explaining the charges of attempted robbery lodged against the three, Bronx Assistant District Attorney David S. Blatt, who questioned them, said: "We have information that the three men were looking for a likely place to hold up."

Takes No Responsibility

London, Feb. 15 (AP)—Winston Churchill's wife isn't taking responsibility for anything he said before their marriage. She spoke last night in suburban Hamault near Woodford, where the Conservative leader is a candidate in the February 23 parliamentary elections. A heckler asked her to explain something Churchill said, then a Liberal party member, said against the Conservatives in 1904. "I've been married to him for 41 years," Mrs. Churchill replied. "That statement was made 42 years ago before I got control of him."

Married Sunday Afternoon

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD FRANCIS SMITH

Jeannine Marie Gue, Benedictine Nurse,

Weds Harold Francis Smith at St. Joseph's
Jeannine Marie Gue, nurse at Benedictine Hospital, and Harold Francis Smith of 11 Stanley street, were married Sunday in a formal double ring ceremony at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church.

Given in marriage by her brother, Le Grand Gue, Miss Gue wore a princess style gown of chantilly lace over satin with an inset nylon illusion neckline, pointed sleeves and a long train. Her fingertip veil was of imported French illusion caught to a half crown of the illusion trimmed with lilies of the valley. She carried a prayer book and garter.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Minnie Gue and the late John Gue of Lake Katrine. The bridegroom is the son of Frank W. Smith of Hollywood, Calif., formerly of Kingston, and the late Mrs. Ida Bailey Smith.

The ceremony was performed by Father Keating, Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist, and Anthony J. Bonacci, singer, gave performances of "Mother Beloved," "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

The church was decorated with white carnations and snapdragons on the main altar.

Maid of honor was Miss Margaret Dougherty, 83 First avenue, a classmate of the bride. She wore a picture gown—a satin bodice with a satin peplum edged with Venice lace, and a full nylon marquise skirt over a taffeta slip—and a picture hat of Chantilly lace trimmed with satin ribbon and rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of daffodils centered with iris.

The bridesmaids, Miss Gloria Granwehr, Main street, Saugerties, and Mrs. Frank Martino, 16 Henry street, were dressed similarly. They carried bouquets of iris with centered daffodils.

Best man was Alfred E. Smith, brother of the groom, and ushers were: John L. Emmick, the groom's brother-in-law, 11 Stanley street, and Frank Martino, 16 Henry street.

After the ceremony a reception was held for approximately 100 guests at the Pleasant Valley Inn. Then the newlyweds left for a wedding journey to Washington, D. C., and Virginia. The new Mrs. Smith wore a dark green gabardine suit with brown accessories.

They will make their home at 30 South Clinton avenue.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School in 1941 and from Our Lady of Victory School of Nursing in 1944.

The bridegroom was graduated from Kingston High School in 1939, and served three and a half years in the navy as Rd M 2/c after graduation from the Naval Radio Technician School in Dearborn, Mich. He is now employed at the Hercules Powder Co. in Port Ewen.

HOW HIGH A CENTERPIECE?

The following question is asked frequently: "How high should the centerpiece of a dining table be? I've seen some low ones and then also others that were high and difficult to see past. These last were in very stylish houses, too."

At a small table where conversation is general and not limited to those seated next to you, the centerpiece should not obstruct the view across the table. At a formal dinner, the centerpiece may be as high as you think will be beautiful to the table, since at such a dinner people talk only with those sitting beside them.

Repeating Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: Is the obligation ended when you invite a friend to a party and she can't come? This happened to me and I said I was sorry and hoped I'd have better luck next time. But evidently there is to be no next time as the friend has given several parties since and not asked me.

Answer: Speaking formally, an invitation—whether accepted or not—cancels a debt. On the other hand, it is very probable that this friend has to invite others in their turn before inviting you again.

Hats in the Evening

Dear Mrs. Post: We had a local woman's club dinner and some of the ladies came in evening dresses, without hats, while those in afternoon dresses wore hats. I think the latter should also have gone without hats to a private dinner. But I seem to be alone in thinking this way.

Answer: Although under usual circumstances, hats are worn with day clothes, I agree with you that in the evening at a private dinner given either at a club or in a private house, it would have been in better taste to have come without hats.

Child's Report Card

Dear Mrs. Post: How should a mother sign her child's report card?

Answer: She signs the report card Mary Reeves, and if she chooses, it is proper to write (Mrs. Henry) before her signature, or Mrs. Henry Reeves in parentheses beneath her signature.

What silver should be served with a baked apple? This is just one of twenty everyday questions on table service which Mrs. Post answers in her booklet, No. 504, "The Etiquette of Table Setting."

To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The-Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Local Snow Job Brings Criticism of Public Works Crews

He said he had a million of 'em—and it wasn't Jimmy Durante talking.

Neither was he referring to jokes, as the famous comic does. It was a police officer talking, and his remark was about complaints relative to slushy streets.

"Everybody's squawking," he bellowed.

And, judging from his attitude he was right in line with the parade of citizens who'd drive the Board of Public Works crews into the legion of the damned.

Consensus was that the plowing job was ill handled, and not enough of it done.

One salesman making his rounds was of the opinion that last night's snow loading operation was the wrong move.

"Why don't those guys clear up the middle of the roads first," he growled as he tried to maneuver his truck through East Strand.

"If this stuff freezes in the roads, we'll have a heck of a time."

A bus driver agreed with him.

"Talk about sore arms," he remarked. "Every guy on this job will need a doctor's attention when he gets home."

"And, the riders are yelling about long waits for buses. They're sore too."

"Stopping and starting is bad enough, but the traffic jams in places are the biggest holdups."

"It's a good thing we haven't had much snow this winter."

And, the butchers, the bakers, the milkmen and a host of others took shots at the snow removal crews, too.

"I don't know who's running those outfits," one driver snorted, "but he's doing one helluva job."

Elected officials to public offices came in for their share of criticism, but there was little they could do, they pointed out.

"Anything outside of a routine complaint to the Board of Public Works is considered outside interference," said one alderman.

"The Board of Public Works has been handling snowstorms for years, and should know how to do the job efficiently and effectively," he added.

"There are no new men on the staff, and this storm is no more exceptional than heavier ones we've had in other years."

Snowbanks along the curbs of some streets were removed last night to make it easier for motorists to park, and the same operation probably will continue.

Plows were out after the storm started and cleared the centers of streets, but the continued fall of snow covered them again. Then came rain and resulting seas of slush.

And, the horrible, miserable driving conditions that have made the tempers of autoists flare, and pedestrians grumble as they wade footsies crossing the streets or a shower of sleet from a passing car.

Floods, Storms . . .

comparable to the disastrous 1927 overflow.

At Cairo, where the rising Ohio joins the Mississippi, the city's 15 major industries started closing to have scarce fuel for pumping operations. The Ohio surged to 95.6 feet. It was expected to crest tomorrow at 95.5 feet, 3.5 feet short of the lowest flood wall protecting the southern Illinois community of 15,000.

Army engineers said they would not flood the new Madrid floodway downstream near Charleston, Mo., unless the Ohio hits 97 feet at Cairo and threatens a greater rise. Some 3,000 persons prepared to leave the floodway as officials described flood conditions more serious than last month. The floodway is designed to take river pressure off upstream levees.

Flood conditions also were described as serious along the St. Francis river in southeast Min-souri. Many families were evacuated. Coast guardsmen and army engineers returned to the area and levees were ordered patrolled and guarded.

Thirty-five persons, including a nine-day old baby, were marooned in a tavern 15 miles north of Scranton, Pa., and rescue crews battled six-foot snow drifts to reach them. They had sought refuge in the tavern after abandoning their cars in the snow covered highways.

Second Term

Helsinki, Finland, Feb. 15 (AP)—Anti-Communist Juho Paasikivi was named president of Finland today for a second term. The 79-year-old statesman was chosen by the 300-member electoral college for a term of six years. He got 171 of the votes. Communist candidate Mauno Pekkala received 67 electoral votes. The Agrarian candidate, Dr. Urho Kekkonen, received 62 votes.

Travel Is Reported

Highland-Poughkeepsie bridge route delayed traffic and at many points there were long lines of cars stalled until county trucks arrived and sanded.

County Clerk Harry D. Sutton reported "heavy going" from his home in Clintondale to Kingston. Much of the distance had to be covered in second gear due to the heavy, wet snow on the road.

State Troopers at Lake Katrine reported 9W north of Kingston in bad shape during the morning hours with the road rough and rutted. At Highland troopers who came over from Monticello early in the morning reported numerous tie-ups on grades and Route 17 was reported in "bad" condition.

City schools closed Tuesday because of the snowstorm were open today. Most county schools were also open again.

No Serious Accidents

No serious accidents were reported to the sheriff's office during the night.

County Investigator Clayton W. Vredenburg reported route 28 in good condition later this morning after two snow plows had covered the route from Kingston west.

Earlier today route 28 from the Delaware county line at Highmount east to Kingston was reported in "terrible condition" by a driver for the Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Corporation who made the Margaretville-Kingston run. From Margaretville to Highmount the Delaware county officials has plowed during the night and the road was reported in good condition. The Ulster county section however had not been plowed and was reported rough with extremely heavy going. Buses were running slowly behind schedule.

Adirondack Transit Lines, operating to New York and north of Kingston, reported bus traffic about normal with buses operating close to schedule. South of Kingston the amount of snow decreased and rain was reported by the drivers of the buses.

Eight Men Die . . .

waters of Queen Charlotte sound just before midnight Monday.

No word has been heard from the 163-ton air force bomber since the last of three messages reported at 11:40 p. m. (2:40 a. m. E.S.T.) Monday night:

"Going to let down . . ."

Earlier the huge bomber with 16 crewmen and an air force lieutenant colonel aboard, had messaged that one engine was all right and advised searchers to "keep a careful lookout for barrels or wreckage."

The disappearance of the giant six-motor bomber was the first loss of this advanced type craft in actual operation. One other was wrecked at Carswell Air Base at Fort Worth, Tex., when the 163-ton plane plunged into a lake at the end of a runway in an attempted takeoff. Other mishaps concerning the B-36's have been of minor nature.

Searching airmen and surface craft yesterday and last night found no trace of the wreckage in the area, some 460 miles northwest of here. Nor were any distress signals picked up from the crank-style "Gibson girl" radio which is a part of the bomber's emergency crash equipment.

Canadian Air Force Headquarters in Vancouver, B. C., said they held scant hope the big plane could remain aloft in the gale-swept, fog strait, and survival of the 17 aboard would depend on whether they launched their life rafts in time.

The R.C.A.F. said it planned to send nine planes into the search during the forenoon, when the near zero-zero visibility in the area is expected to lift somewhat. Two Lancasters from Edmonton will form part of the Canadian effort.

A dozen B-29s were ready to take off from Spokane, Wash., and Great Falls, Mont.

Only searching conducted through the wind and fog last night was by Canadian and American Coast Guard surface craft.

High School Cagers Resume DUSO Play Against Fallsburg Friday

Mountaineers Bring Fair Club To Auditorium

DUSO Standings

| KINGSTON    | W | L | Pct   |
|-------------|---|---|-------|
| Newburgh    | 3 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Liberty     | 2 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Monticello  | 1 | 1 | .500  |
| Port Jervis | 1 | 2 | .333  |
| Fallsburg   | 1 | 2 | .333  |
| Middletown  | 0 | 2 | .000  |

The Fallsburg Central School Comets, an in-and-out basketball team since it joined the DUSO League, are guests of Kingston High in a conference game Friday night at the municipal auditorium.

The social aspects of the skirmish will be held to a minimum, since the Maroons are interested only in knocking off the mountaineers and keeping chaste until the February 24 meeting with Newburgh Free Academy.

Like the little girl with the curl, the Comets are either very good or simply horrid. They have demonstrated the ability to pile up some of the highest scores in the league. On the other hand they have folded when least expected. This sort of inconsistency hardly figures to stand up against the Maroon powerhouse on the local boards.

Host Two Stars
In Blackie Klarish and Moe Laskowitz, the Comets have two of the better players in the conference. Laskowitz, a transfer student from Middletown, has been a consistent scorer through the season. Klarish has not quite lived up to expectations but is capable of soaring high into double figures on good nights.

The Kingston victory over Port Jervis a struggle, incidentally, that emphasized the Red and Black will always be tough for KHS on their home boards. proved that the Klansmen can win, even if Ronnie Scheffel and Moll Leonard are styled to a degree.

The team's balance was never more effectively spotlighted than in the turbulent battle against Port Jervis. The masterful blend of rebounding strength in the Jim Riehl and Paul Scheffel and the sharp-shooting of the front line paid off handsome dividends against Port Jervis. These two elements must be at peak efficiency to humble Newburgh on Feb. 24.

Hickman, Yale Football Coach, To Address K.H.S.A.A. Banquet

Ridgers Stage Major Upset

Schroeder packed 29 points as the Stone Ridge Royals scored a major upset, 75-50, over the Ulster Park Roamers last night on the Wiltwyck School court in Esopus.

The defeat was the worst inflicted on the Town of Esopus basketball team this season. Schroeder hit for fourteen ducuses and a singleton, Brink racked up 17 points and Fred Linnartz tallied 16, as the Royals came from behind with a brilliant last half surge.

The boxscore:

Famous Mentor Due Here Feb. 25

Herman Hickman, the massive Yale University football coach, will be the principal speaker at the annual Kingston High School Athletic Association's banquet on Saturday, Feb. 25, in the K.H.S. gym, it was announced today.

The banquet which serves as a testimonial for all varsity athletic squads at Kingston High is open to the public. Tickets can be secured by calling the high school.

A former All-America tackle with the University of Tennessee, Hickman is a tremendous man who weighs about 300 pounds. He gained a measure of fame as Coach Earl Blunk's line coach at the U. S. Military Academy.

Further details regarding the banquet will be announced later, but Coach G. Warren Kias announced today that ticket orders will be accepted at once.

Pittsburgh Lands Len Casanova

Pittsburgh, Feb. 15 (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh today announced the appointment of Len Casanova as head football coach.

The former Santa Clara grid mentor succeeds Mike Milligan who resigned last month when he was offered a one year contract renewal.

Casanova quit his California job last night. Santa Clara, Calif., Feb. 15 (AP)—The resignation of Len Casanova as head football coach of Santa Clara University was accepted last night at a stormy session of the Board of Athletic Control.

Casanova was attending a testimonial dinner at Redwood City, his hometown, when the resignation was accepted. He had no immediate comment.

Pitt officials were not available last night for comment. The Rev. Wilford H. Crowley, chairman of the Santa Clara Board of Athletic Control said the action was taken "with regret."

"We wish Coach Casanova continued success in any coaching job he will take," Crowley said. "The Pitt offer was not mentioned. However, Santa Clara president, the Rev. William G. Glavin, said he had talked with Pitt authorities about the offer over the week-end and had decided not to stand in Casanova's way of advancement. There was heated discussion at the board meeting last night in effort to retain the coach. It was reported that the coach had two years to go on his $10,000 a year contract at Santa Clara. It is understood he will get more than $15,000 a year at Pitt on a four-year contract."

Italian Ace In Giant Slalom

Zeno Colo, Italian ski ace, leaves the snow in his race down the Giant Slalom course at Aspen, Colo., to register the fastest unofficial time among the early finishers, 1 minute, 54.4 seconds. Colo has just cleared one of the 33 gates in his race down the course. (AP Wirephoto)

Demaret Favored In Rio Grande Golf

Harlingen, Tex., Feb. 15 (AP)—Golf's winter tourists slashed at a loose par 71 on the Harlingen municipal course today in a bulging pre-amateur field, primarily to the third annual $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open.

Regulation figures took a battering yesterday as the star-spangled links brigade flexed its muscles in tune-up rounds. And par was expected to be reduced to an unrecognizable mass with more than 200 chipping and putting today for $450 in prize money—$200 to the first-place combination.

Jolly Jimmie Demaret of Ojai, Calif., called the top putter in the game at this time by fellow professionals, was established as favorite to cop the $2,000 first money in the Open tournament which starts tomorrow over the 6,095-yard course.

European Skiers Dominate Meet

Aspen, Colo., Feb. 15 (AP)—The lumber-jointed men and women of the mountainous countries of Europe are making almost a clean sweep of the Alpine events of the World Ski Tournament.

The Europeans—Austrians, Italians, French and Swedes—are perfectly at home on the steep, treacherous slopes overlooking this Colorado winter resort town. They were trained to maneuver on mountains much like these.

So far this week, they have been in complete command, virtually shutting out the Scandinavians in the most sponsored by the Federation Internationale De Ski.

If they continue at their present pace the rest of the week, they will even matters fully with the Swedes, Norwegians and Finns who dominated the Nordic phase of the world competition at Lake Placid, N. Y., and Rumford, Maine.

The Scandinavians, trained on less rugged hills, swept the jumping meet at Lake Placid and the cross-country event at Rumford. In the rugged mountains of western Colorado, they have been forced to yield to the Europeans.

The Austrians, dominating the women's giant slalom Monday in the men's giant slalom yesterday, Italy, France and Switzerland were the top nations.

The Americans, who have plenty of Alpine atmosphere in their own country but are comparatively infants in the sport, haven't offered serious competition to the visiting foreigners.

Bauer Sisters Lead Everglades Foursome

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP)—The Bauer sisters from Midland, Tex., and their partners continued to set the pace in the 15th annual Everglades Club mixed foursomes golf tournament today.

Marlene Bauer, who'll be 16 years old tomorrow, and Reginald Boardman of Palm Beach yesterday managed a 1-up victory over Ruth Woodward of Fall River, Mass., and W. A. Pagan, West Palm Beach's golfing fireman.

Alice Bauer, 22, and Clarke Hardwick of Bel-Air, Calif., defeated Jean Dobbins of Norwood, Mo., and I. R. Ring of Boston, Mass., 1 and 8, to move into the second round.

The first ice-making machine in the United States was invented by Dr. John Gorrie of Apalachicola, Fla., in 1850.

Potters' Rally Nips Wiltwycks 54 to 53 in Y League Thriller

McCarville Paces Unbeaten Squad

Potter Brothers stormed from behind to nose out Wiltwyck Motors, 54-53, while Harry's Angels defeated the Sixth Ward, 66-58, last night in two of the best played games in the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League this season.

Ward Dunham turned in the best individual performance of the night with a 30-point blast for Harry's Angels.

Potters trailed Wiltwycks, 8-19, at the quarter mark after a trio of ducuses by Red Murray and Bob Hunt sent the Motormen winging in front 12-0 in the first three minutes.

Trailing 32-46 at the end of the third period, the Potter cagers clung to big Wally McCarville's shirt tail as he paced them through a 22-point drive.

With two and one half minutes remaining, Wiltwycks attempted to put on the freeze but got nowhere. With 75 seconds left, McCarville, Vince Peck and Cliff Schoonmaker hit for successive shots. Schoonmaker's came in the last ten seconds of play to preserve the Potter winning streak at ten in a row.

McCarville Stars
McCarville, who scored 21 points, did his heaviest damage with 14 points in the cynical fourth period. Perry Greene added ten to the winning total. Bob Hunt racked up 22 points for the Motormen.

Dunham on Rampage
Dunham fired 14 ducuses and a couple of fouls to keep Harry's Angels in front all the way against the scrappy Sixth Ward combine. After piling up a 25-18 edge in the first quarter, the Angels slumped a bit in the second period to lead 35-34 at the half. A 22-14 edge in the third period took the game out of Sixth Ward reach.

Dunham made all his shots on passes received as he cut through the bucket and dribbling across the bucket. Gene Fitzgerald, who has the sharpest shooting form in the league, scored most of his points from a fast dribble and jump shots from 10 to 15 feet out. He picked up 20 points on ten ducuses.

Like Fitzgerald with 12 points and Potruski with 10 also figured materially in the Angel victory.

Bowling Roundup

R. Cutler moved to the head of the class in the Y Federation National circuit last night as local leagues resumed firing after the city tournament layoff period.

Cutler battered the sticks for 146, 153, 203-332. Runnerup was Frank Short with 515, while Al Sonnenberg and L. Constant shot 479. Ralph Harper's 471, E. Volk 463, G. Talleur 468 and J. Sills 204-465 were other high efforts.

Three big names—Evelyn Gross, Dot Rawling and Beverly Markle—dominated firing in the Friends League. Mrs. Gross pointed out 524 via 194-140-190, while Mrs. Rawling was only four pins off the pace with 189-520. Miss Markle shot 504. Rose Schatzel 498, Rita LaRocca 205-495, Ada Markle 490, J. Kelder 470, M. Perry 469, V. Slover 450.

Central Rec League keggers trailed Tony LaRocca who shot 180-231-183-394. Ray Houghtaling knocked off 209-576. Stan Colvin 216-575, Chris Robinson 210-563, "Red" Lang 261, Chris Gilder, Steve 212-566, Ben Stabile 203-557, Joe Bosco 200-540, and W. Wood 525.

Scott Vining pounded out a tremendous 239 solo and other counts of 165 and 169 for a long drive in the 612 triple in the No. 2000 League. Steve Fawcender finished with 215 and 538 for the runnerup slot. Johnny Lowe hit for 204-545, J. Strecher 204-580, W. Robinson 200-539, C. Beatty 536, W. Winslow 538, Larry Jacobs 211-549, Ernie Macgregor 212-546, Herb Seelbach 223-543.

Jim Cave peeled off scores of 165-205-189-359 for the best effort in the Greater League. Matt Weil hit 201-528 for the other two hundred score in the loop. John Dittus Jr. clipped 497, J. Glowing, sk. 203-490, J. Duffner 489, J. Houghtaling 487 and Gurney Burger 480.

CHICHELSKY'S CHATTER: We want to congratulate all the winners of the recent city tournament and thank all members of the tournament committee who helped make the tournament a success. There were some members from different committees who never turned up to do their assignment. We can't see where it does any harm to anyone to volunteer a few nights or a Sunday to promote their annual city tournament. The city is a co-operated very nicely as secretkeepers. There is one A.B.C. rule which should be enforced on the alleys—no drinks allowed. Marnie Colao, the dynamic downtown barber, has organized a match game team. He has imported Pete Nagy and Jim Seay to go along with himself and the Secreto brothers—Lou and Harry.

St. Joseph's Five Wins Church League Crown

Trip St. Peter's 54-45 For Eighth Straight

St. Joseph's basketballers captured the Senior division crown in the Church Basketball League with a 55-45 victory over St. Peter's, last night at the M.J.M. gym.

The victory was the eighth straight without a setback for the uptown cagers who finished the season with a perfect record.

Stenson and Juhl carried the load as St. Joseph's moved ahead 10-5 at the quarter and 27-10 at halftime. St. Peter's made their best bid with an 18-11 margin in the third quarter, but failed to make any headway as the clubs battled to a 17-17 standoff in the stretch.

Stenson, a powerhouse in the lineup all season paced the winners with 18 points. Andy Juhl scored 13, while Haggerty and Carpozis shared fifteen.

Savatgy Routs East, 125-46

Pete Savatgy, a young man tabbed as the finest young pocket billiard prospect in Kingston, justified pre-tournament predictions last night, with a resounding 125-46 victory over veteran Bob East at the Kaslich Parlor.

Beaten only by champion Dave Brooks, the youthful Savatgy completely outclassed his opponent, taking command with a 13-0 lead in the first rack.

East tied the score at 14-14 but Savatgy showed his class by breaking loose with his first big run of the tournament—a 37—and then followed with a cluster of 19 to move ahead 73-21.

Claude Markle bids for a second place tie with Savatgy when he meets C.N. "B.B." Massa in tonight's match at 7:30.

Army Asks Fund To Test New Gun

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—The army has asked for $4,518,500 to continue tests of the "Sky-sweeper," a top-secret anti-aircraft gun it says can hit planes of supersonic speed (faster than sound) either night or day.

Secretary of the Army Gray described the weapon as "our best answer to date for the threat posed by aircraft at short and medium ranges."

These disclosures were part of a report made public today of hearings before a House Military Appropriations Subcommittee, on the army's request for $4,018,384,000 of the $13,000,000,000 the Defense Department has asked for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Range and firing speed of the 75-millimeter sky-sweeper were not revealed. Its primary new features are said to be radar-directed fire-control and proximity-fuzed ammunition.

Gray also told the House group that the army's research and development experts are completing development of "extremely accurate fire-control systems for directing and engaging high altitude targets traveling at near-sonic speeds."

Details of this system, known as "anti-aircraft T-33," are closely guarded secrets. The army wants $23,779,339 to be used in its development.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, told the committee that the army is making some reductions in manpower while spending more money on some weapons.

"We think that the army of 630,000 men who are better equipped will be a better army than one of 677,000 men with less modern equipment," he explained.

Gray said that the army is placing emphasis on tanks, their guns and ammunition, anti-aircraft missiles and guns, surface-to-surface guided missiles and medical research in preventative psychiatry, radiation injury and preventative medicine.

Heifer Peril Belittled

Washington (AP)—A Maryland farm worker said his employer, a Washington resident, for damages. He said a heifer had stepped on his foot, injuring him, and that the animal was "dangerous." District Judge Richmond B. Keoch wouldn't go along with him. He acknowledged heifers might be excitable but not generally dangerous, like a tiger or rattlesnake. He dismissed the suit.
